Paragraph-I The Cat that Walked by Himself Pussy can sit by the fire and sing, Pussy can climb a tree, Or play with a silly old cork and string To 'muse herself, not me. But I like Binkie my dog, because He knows how to behave; So, Binkie's the same as the First Friend was, And I am the man in the Cave.	Paragraph-II Pussy will play man-Friday till It's time to wet her paw And make her walk on the window-sill (For the footprint Crusoe saw); Then she fluffles her tail and meows, And scratches and won't attend. But Binkie will play whatever I choose, And he is my true First Friend.	Paragraph-III Pussy will rub my knees with her head Pretending she loves me hard; But the very minute I go to my bed Pussy runs out in the yard, And there she stays till the morning- light So I know it is only pretend; But Binkie, he snores at my feet all night, And he is my fastest friend!

There was no shade for them to sit and relax. The man had an idea and he sat down in the shadow of the donkey. At this the owner of the donkey became angry. He said, ' friend, you hired only the donkey, and not its shadow. If you want the shadow also, you must pay for it.' But the shadow goes with the donkey,' replied the man. 'So I can use both of them.'

One Day a king went out to meet the people of his kingdom. Many people stood along the streets to see him and receive gifts. As the king was passing, a beggar approached him. He had an empty bowl with a little rice in it.

The beggar said, " Oh mighty King, please give me some alms." The king felt pity for the poor beggar. He put his hand in his pocket to take out something. Then suddenly he had an idea and asked the beggar, " Give me something first."

The beggar thought the king would give him gifts. He felt annoyed at the king's words. "What can a poor give to the king?" he said and threw a grain of rice from his bowl at the king.

In return, the king threw a gold coin in his bowl and rode away. Now the beggar felt unhappy for throwing just a grain of rice. If he had thrown a handful of rice, the king would have given him a handful of gold coins.
